Montana and Wyoming—Fair tonight and Thursday.

Passing January Show.
Chicago, Jan. 28.—Corn sentiment slowly veering to a friendly spirit. We figure the March corn reserves in the seven surplus states as very small. Under ordinary circumstances a crushed cash corn demand in December and January should be followed by a brisk February inquiry, should it not? Exactly.
The March crib reserves in the big states will overshadow the Argentine export surplus in settling the corn price.

Wheat theories cover small north-west reserves, easy consumption of the entire 1913-1914 Argentine surplus by the United Kingdom, necessity of Europe to close fresh contracts every time our markets sag a little. Wheat appears in a resilient position, but the feature of every export position is a disappearance of continental demand after bulges.
It will hurt the eastern consumer to bend the knee, but he will have to buy in Chicago next month.
That pressure in the provision pit means that packers have decided to allow the futures to carry their cellar supplies.

The annual oats dinner in New York was a great success with James Simpson the premier toast and roastmaster. Wall street hailed the opening of two new restaurants and a fruit store and advent of three new dog brokers in Broad street as signs of a genuine bull movement.
Total March corn reserves in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, 25 per cent of Iowa and one half of Illinois will be about the smallest ever known.
Tariff effects to date weigh lightly on 90 per cent of industries. Farmer is greatest complainer.
The livestock report very friendly to corn position. Recent private estimates of big decreases are way out of line. Hogs at 3.7 per cent below last year. Total is about 59,000,000 versus 61,000,000 last year. Horses increase about 400,000. Mules increase about 75,000. Milch cows increase about 24,000 to 26,737,000. Total of other cattle on feed is 35,855,000 versus 36,000,000 last year. Sheep 49,719,000—a decrease of 1,700,000. An exceedingly friendly report which indicates reserves of corn will be very small on March 1. It is a friend in need to corn.

QUINCY REJECTS RULE BY A BOARD

Proposition to Change Form of Government Defeated by a Majority of 7,020.

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 28.—The commission form of government was rejected by the voters of Quincy at a special election yesterday. The proposition lost by a majority of 7,020, the vote being 2,804 for and 9,824 against. The women of the city had their first opportunity to go to the polls and there were nearly as many exercised the right as there were men. The women's vote was 4,201 against and 1,300 for.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—By a vote of 5,908 to 5,240, Springfield yesterday declared in favor of consolidating its water and electric lighting plants. It also decided to enter the commercial lighting field with its municipal plant, in competition with the Springfield Utilities company. It was the first initiation of legislation under the Illinois commission government statute. Over 2,000 women voted, most of them having to swear in their votes, as they were not registered.

AT THE ILLINOIS.

No light opera of recent years has created such a delightful impression upon the music loving public as "The Chocolate Soldier," which will be the attraction at the Illinois next Friday. The theme of the opera has been taken from the work of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," and the magic genius of Oscar Straus created the rhythmic, tuneful music which is being sung and whistled even now, after several years' first production. This same little gem of the musical world has the distinction of breaking all records heretofore made in New York City, the home of comic opera runs. Straus took the satirical tale of Shaw's and wove a romantic abandon of heart and love interest which thrills old and young alike. During the opera's run in New York City thousands of college boys and girls went to hear it, not only once, but twice and thrice. They listened with rapt attention to such lyrics as "My Hero," "The Tale of a Coat," "The Letter Song," "Sympathy" and "Never Was There Such a Lover." Mr. Whitney has spared no expense on the production for this season. Originally he went to the scenes of the opera's locale and became imbued with the air, color and life of the people who make up the action of the charming opera. As a result the detail of the scenes in Bulgaria are just as they are in actual life and Mr. Whitney imported all the quaint costumes, embroideries and martial glitter direct from the Dragoman Pass of Bulgaria, the home of the Chocolate Soldier. A splendid company is always necessary to properly interpret the music of "The Chocolate Soldier" and Mr. Whitney considers he has kept up the reputation he so well deserves in engaging his people this season. Among others there are Nannette Kopetsky, J. T. Purcell, Lottie Collins, Lucille Saunders, Francis J. Boyle, George Tallman and Sylvan Langlois.

The press agent declares: "A sensation in burlesque will be Jack Reid's presentation of the 'Mystery Moon Girl' next Saturday at the Illinois theatre. While the auditorium of the theatre is darkened to conceal the equipment that projects in all directions from the stage, the 'Mystery Moon Girl' floats apparently unassisted over the heads of the audience while sitting on a crescent moon. The moon glimmers with the reflection of the myriad stars that pursue it in its travel of its orbit about the theatre. The burlesque entertainment is divided into two lively, snappy musical farces overflowing with side-splitting laughs. They are called 'A Night in Bohemia' and 'At Saratoga.' In the former, Reid, a well known burlesque star, takes the part of Murphy, a hen-pecked millionaire, and in the latter part that of a tout and dope fiend at the races. He is surrounded by an all star cast including his wife, Ella Reid, Gilbert and Etta Joerns, prima donna. There is also a large chorus of girls. The tango and other dances which for
